DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 2-5 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 8/11/2003.
2. This application contains claims 2-5 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in the reply filed on 8/11/2003. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancelation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Interpretation

3. The claims are product-by-process claims. A product by process claim is limited only by the structure implied by the claims, not to the specific manipulations performed to obtain the product. The claimed product comprises a porous product containing silicon carbide as indicated by the preamble and the claim language "performing reaction-bonding of the porous structural body so as to form silicon carbide having superior molten silicon wettability and to simultaneously form open pores caused by the reaction-bonding during which the reaction volume decreases"

The remaining process limitations are not considered to imbue the claim with any further structure because it merely recites the preparation and infiltration of carbon-containing and silicon-containing components that may be reacted to form silicon carbide.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no support for a silicon-carbide based structural material that contains a framework that is reinforced by carbon produced by the carbonization of the resin. Applicant points to p. 10, lines 8-18 as support for this limitation. However, there is no indication that any silicon carbide has been formed at the stage of p. 10, lines 8-18. It appears that silicon carbide forms with heat treatment at the higher temperature of p. 10, line 19-p. 11, line 13, but there is no description that these materials contain carbon that reinforces the framework.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tani et al. (U.S. Patent 5,294,460, hereafter '460).

'460 teaches a porous composite body comprising carbon fibers and silicon carbide formed by the reaction between a resin and powdered silicon (col. 4, lines 45-68).

Claim 6: The resin produces free carbon (Abstract). By Applicant's description, it appears that free carbon obtained by this method must inherently reinforce the fiber framework.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 4/12/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that the carbon fibers of Tani are not formed by decomposition in the production process and that the process of Tani does not infiltrate with molten silicon. The argument is unconvincing because the final product as claimed may contain carbon fibers in a silicon carbide matrix, which is the product produced by Tani. "[E]ven though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) (citations omitted).

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
